Payt, the standard in modern credit management

Payt proves that credit management can be personal, efficient and effective. The software allows organisations to send invoices and reminders fully automated, without losing control in the process. Payt also facilitates dialogue with debtors via an advanced communication system. This makes an invoice a point of contact in the customer experience and ensures better payment behaviour. Payt thus ensures faster payments and peace of mind in the organisation.

From invoice to bailiff

The smart debtor management software seamlessly connects with various accounting, invoicing, and administration packages; as a result, the current status of your debtor administration is updated daily in Payt. Payt reminds debtors on a structural basis of outstanding invoices. This ensures continuity in the debtor process and better payment behaviour of customers: after all, they know exactly when they will receive an invoice or reminder. Payt customers themselves determine the process, the lead time and the way in which they remind a debtor of the outstanding invoice. Interrupting a route, stopping it or making a payment arrangement? That too is possible!

In addition to an extensive credit management platform, Payt also offers the possibility to continue the process with an automated amicable collection process. This process complies with all laws and regulations, so that the bailiff - after the amicable collection process - can start a judicial collection process without any problems.

Structured process

Payt brings structure to communication with debtors. The continuity of correspondence ensures clarity, resulting in better payment behaviour. Payt customers therefore realise a lower outstanding balance, better cash flow and higher liquidity.

About Payt

Founded in 2012, five entrepreneurs started the company with the firm conviction that the debtor process of organisations can be many times more efficient. Payt grew rapidly, automated the debtor process of numerous organisations every year and was able to call itself the main sponsor of FC Groningen after five years. Having clients in 9 countries, while reaching debtors in more than 150 countries, Payt is the proven standard in modern credit management.

Whatever you make, whatever you deliver. Get it. Payt.
